

Glen Ivy
Friday Afternoon, February 6, 2009
Elder Meeting Minutes

The Web site was explored to disseminate Elder information for the Elders. The current technology for the elders is restrictive. It is set up as a blog. Numerous web pages would be unwieldy and there is no method to organize in sections.

With the advent of a new MKPI site in March, it was hoped that the Elder site can piggyback on the technology. This would provide more extensive capabilities that would meet our needs. We would be able to organize the information in a hierarchy. The metaphor is that there would be a house with many rooms. Each room would contain a library. In some cases there may be several rooms associated with an area of interest (e.g. Ritual Elder) and that collection of rooms would be called a wing.

Web Site Action Items:

- Norman will explore the use of the technology by contacting Keith Jarvis.
- Allan will be the Pointman to establish the rooms of the house.
- Since all may view the Web pages, security will be explored.
- The existence of the elder list serves will be placed on the Web site with contact information.
- The existence of the Web site will be broadcast on the elder list serves on a regular basis.
- The Web may become a site to hold International Communications.

With the restructuring, several issues were raised for discussion:

- Regional Training, Workshops and Retreats vs WEG.
- Communications
- Transparency
- Recertification (Monitor Ritual Elders)
- Defining Regions